

A hot summer night

Wong Cho Kiu, Yobi (5B)

It was a hot summer night. At eight o'clock, Ann's family was finishing their dinner when Mum turned on the air-conditioner and the lights. Everyone was in the living room. Ann was playing with her baby brother, Sam, while her mum was reading some books. They were sitting on the sofa.

All of a sudden, the lights and the air-conditioning turned off. Ann and Sam were scared because it was very dark. Later, her mum found a torch in her bedroom and she turned it on. They felt hot and heard some noises. They came from Sam. He was crying loudly. Mum was calling for help.

In the end, Ann used a paper fan to keep cool. They waited for a long time until the air-conditioning and the lights came back on.
