

Buying a present

Chau Nga Wai, Sophia (3B)

On Saturday, Sam is outside the toy shop. He wants to buy a doll as a present for his sister, May's birthday next Saturday.

Sam is in the toy shop. He sees some robots and dolls. He wants to buy a robot because he likes robots. The robot is red, yellow and blue. It can talk, walk and dance. It is very cool. It is eighty-eight dollars. Sam feels excited and happy.

Then, Sam buys a very big robot but he forgets to buy a doll. 'Oh no! I forgot to buy the doll for May!' Sam cries sadly.

Sam is in a panic and does not know what to do! He returns to the toy shop and buys a cute and beautiful doll. He thinks May will like the doll. When he takes out his wallet, he discovers there is not enough money. He cannot buy the doll but there is a fifty dollar coupon in his wallet. Then, he can buy the doll. May sees the doll. She is very happy.
